

Excerpt from Interrogation of ARAKI, Sadao

19 February 1946
Page 1.

"After I became War Minister, I discussed the policy of the occupation of General CHANG's four provinces to clear up the Manchurian situation. After I had made the plan up myself with the Prime Minister, the Foreign Minister, and the Finance Minister, all agreed with me. The Prime Minister approached the Privy Council for approval."